Dear Author(s),

During the final publication quality check of your manuscript, we identified a critical issue: almost all the references cited are AI-generated and do not exist in the research literature. Additionally, the entire literature review is based on these fabricated references.

Completely revise the literature review and references section by using genuine and verifiable references available in the research literature, such as those found through the Google Scholar Citation Generator.

Please resubmit the updated article by tomorrow morning so we can proceed with the publication process of your article.

For any clarifications, feel free to contact us at +91-9789653809.
